SATURDAY MORNING, AUG. 15, 1863.

Gen. Lee's Personal Opinions.

The New York Herald says "it is whispered by those who know him best that he never was a secessionist at heart; that he has no faith in the Jeff. Davis oligarchy or in the stability of the Southern Confederacy; that he loves the old Union and the Constitution, and wishes to see the integrity of the one and the supremacy of the other restored; that in the great revolution through which the country is now passing he aspires to play the part, not of Napoleon or Cromwell, but of Gen. Monk, and to effect the restoration of constitutional government in America."

At the beginning of the rebellion, it was generally understood in Washington, that Lee had no sympathy whatever with it, or its movers: indeed so great was the confidence in his fidelity, for more than a month even after Mr. Lincoln's inauguration, that he was regarded by all as the probable Commander-in-Chief of the army, in case of Gen. Scott's retirement. Though leading rebels urged Lee with great earnestness to join them, he persistently refused to do so, alleging as a reason that Virginia, his native State was true to the Union, and he would be true to her and the Government. At that time no one believed that the Old Dominion would disgrace her proud fame by yoking herself in the bonds of disunion with South Carolina, but after the attack on Sumter, and the threat of the rebel Government that if she did not go with it, her soil would be the bloody battle ground, her convention which had by a large majority been strongly loyal, passed a secession ordinance, and made the State—just what it was anticipated would be avoided—the fighting arena of the war. When news of this action reached Alexandria, Lee happened to be in that city, attending church. He was called out, placed in a carriage and almost by force driven to Richmond, where he was told that Virginia demanded his services, and would take no denial. He protested and even shed tears, but in vain: he was compelled to resign his commission in the army on the 25th of April, and to wear the rebel uniform. For several months, however, there was so much fear of his sympathy with the Union, that no important command was given to him, nor was he counted sure for treason until the Government in the construction of necessary military works around Washington, took possession of his property—the elegant Arlington estate—and then it was supposed that anger at the great losses he had suffered would make him a faithful enemy to the Union. Of his recent opinions, we have heard nothing, save what is contained in the foregoing extract, but we have always believed that he would be among the first of the officers in the rebel army, to renounce all connection with the conspiracy and to return to his allegiance.

The Peace Desired by Confederate Democrats.—We are aware that some of those who oppose the war profess to regard the policy of peace as the only one which can restore the Union. They are loud in their declamation that they cannot give up our blessed Union, but equally vociferous in declaring that it cannot be saved by war in its defense. Their consistent logic is like that of one whose house is on fire, while he insists that nothing shall be done to extinguish the flames. He wants the building saved, but then the fire must have its own way, till it is exhausted. Such talk is supremely foolish, and much more dishonest than the frank words of other sympathizers with the rebellion, one of whom, John C. Van Loon, of New Jersey, recently said at a public convention, by way of revealing the real purpose of the faction, "that peace will bring us no Union as it was; nor constitution as it is; neither will war; and those who tell you that either will, either do not comprehend the question or mean wilfully to deceive. In this revolution the South have made a government, and those who try to disguise it must ere long be held responsible to the people for their false teachings. This fact not even the Washington administration can deny, and any party which would enjoy the confidence and respect of the people must acknowledge it. Let us no longer try to shut our eyes to the fact that the North and the South have become two separate people; that two governments exist; that when an adjustment is had it must be had between the two governments, and not between the politicians of the two sections. If the Northern Democratic statesmen or leaders think they can accomplish anything except between government and government, they are simply deluding themselves and the people. In order to put ourselves in a position to command the respect necessary to the accomplishment of our purpose (if that is peace), we must, as a preliminary to any proceeding, recognize the situation of the South. So long as we preach peace without the courage to demand that the Confederate government is to be a party to the negotiation, we, in effect, aid the abolitionists, and our meetings and our organs will not be disturbed. By this means we sustain this war, which in our hearts we all detest as the unclean monster of the age. Let us advocate peace upon the basis of existing facts, and we strike a blow to this war which will make the charlatans at Washington tremble like an aspen leaf. It is time to talk of peace for the sake of peace."

Silver Mining Interest at San Francisco.—The Alta says that San Francisco is unquestionably the greatest market in the world for the sale of shares in silver mines. The shares of 1,000 mines are now in the market, and the sales have not been less than $50,000 in cash value on any day during the last three months, and have often risen to $300,000, averaging probably $100,000. Several hundred shrewd business men find profitable occupation in the purchase and sale of these mining stocks. The board of brokers are two of the most prominent prosperous and active of the public institutions of the city. Brokers' offices are very numerous along Montgomery street. The lithographers and printers have for months past been busy in printing certificates of stock. About 250 companies are organized monthly, with a joint nominal capital of $100,000,000. The total number of silver mining companies incorporated in this city is about 1,000, with an aggregate nominal capital of about $600,000,000. Nine-tenths of these companies, probably a much larger proportion, have no claims that pay, and their capital exists only on paper; and yet the organization of so many companies indicates great activity and enterprise, much labor, extensive prospecting, high hopes and substantial basis of prosperity somewhere. Shares are held in these companies by 20,000 men, and they would not go to the expense of sending out prospectors, cutting tunnels or printing certificates, if either they or their neighbors had not already made great sums of money out of the silver mines. Hundreds have risen to great wealth by investments in Washoe. All the men who are pointed out as marvels of success, in swift money making, are interested in Washoe. It could not be otherwise, for within four years since the Comstock was discovered, the cash value of the silver mining stock held in California has risen from nothing to $50,000,000. This is a moderate estimate of the actual cash value of a permanent property, which was obtained at an original cost of perhaps $3,000,000, leaving a profit of $47,000,000 to be divided among, perhaps, 5,000 persons, who own shares in the rich mines. For more than 3,000,000 has been spent in prospecting and opening silver mines, and far more than 5,000 persons own shares in silver mines; but those mines which have no value are not taken into account.

Patriotism Tried and found True.—It is interesting to talk with a Southern Unionist—one who has stood by the old flag at the peril of life, in the midst of a community of traitors thirsting for the property and blood of every loyal man. Such men have stories to tell which makes one's blood tingle to the very finger tips, and show us of the North, who live in absolute peace and safety, what it is to be a patriot where the rebellion floats in triumph. To be pulled out of bed at midnight and dragged to a tree suitable for hanging purposes, and there, with a rope around his neck, to see his house burned before his eyes and his wife and children fleeing from the glare of the flames into the protecting darkness, and then to be left suspended by the neck, with his toes just touching the earth, until some friendly hand may chance to release him, are experiences which fit a man to appreciate rebellion and rebels at their proper estimate, and also to place a just value upon the blessings of legitimate government. These men, who have been thus tried in the furnace of persecution, are always "unconditional Unionists," and hate copperheads only less than out and out traitors.

A Reasonable Proposition.—The Copperheads are in the habit of falsely stating that Republicans, like Horace Greeley of the Tribune, are opposed to making peace with the rebels until slavery is abolished. In a communication, over his own signature, published in the New York Independent, Horace Greeley gave the following as his views of the course which ought to be taken by the Government to bring about peace and the terms upon which it should be accepted. He said:

> We ought now to be near the end of the great struggle, and our Government may, without compromising its dignity, not merely welcome, but openly invite, proposals from North Carolina, Georgia, Texas, and other revolted States, for a peaceful restoration of the Union. Let us all be prepared—nay, we shall, we must already be—to welcome peace whenever it can be achieved without a sacrifice of duty, of principle, of honor, of plighted faith.

What Ohio Soldiers Think of Vallandigham.—The following correspondence respecting the Union nomination for governor in Ohio is published:

Headquarters Army of the Cumberland,
Murfreesborough, June 17, 1863.

Hon. Wm. Dennison:

This army greets John Brough. Ohio soldiers will give him greater greeting in October.

J. A. Garfield, B. G.

REPLY.

Gen. J. A. Garfield, Murfreesboro, Tenn.:

Telegram received. The loyal people of Ohio rejoice at the hearty approval by our noble army, of Brough's nomination. One hundred thousand majority will ratify the nomination in October. Say to the army to defeat the enemy in the front, and the loyal people of the North will defeat them in the rear.

W. Dennison.

Columbus, June 18, 1863.

Sensible change of Opinion.—While Lee was in Pennsylvania, the New York Express, one of the most ultra sheets of the Confederate stripe, made the following significant allusion to the Peace party, which shows something of the moral effect of the rebel movement:

> There is not a Peace party in the North this morning an inch long, in consequence of the invasion of Northern soil by rebel troops. When, and while, the enemy stood in his own States, there was a great party for peace, but it vanished the moment invasion came.

The most poetical thing is often the most literally true. A little girl in Yorkshire, when water was scarce, saved as much rain as she could and sold it to a washerwoman for a cent a bucket, and in this way cleared nearly $5 for the Missionary Society. When she brought it to the secretary of the society she was not willing to tell her name. "But I must put down where the money came from," said he. "Call it then," said the little girl, "rain from heaven."

Letter from Auburn.

(FROM OUR REGULAR CORRESPONDENT.)

Auburn, August 1, 1863.

July has been a very warm month in the mountains, much warmer I think than any summer month in the Willamette. But while a few days have been oppressively hot, we have generally been blessed with mountain breezes that have been exceedingly refreshing, and that alone has made the month endurable.

Just now hay-making is going on in Grand Ronde and Powder river valleys on a large scale, and the prospect is there will be but a small crop, whilst the demand will be largely increased. Many are speculating in hay, putting it up to operate on, and they will doubtless make it pay largely by holding on. Some of the wild grass in these valleys makes excellent feed when well cut and cured—there being a wild clover mixed with it that makes rich fodder. This is such a dry season, that the grass is short everywhere; and on considerable of the Boise road beyond the Burnt river, there is little good feed for stock, and of course there will be much less during the autumn, unless we have unusual rains.

Auburn is steadily filling up, and many empty and deserted cabins are being hired and occupied once more; and if the ditches should bring in some water, we can calculate on much activity here, and as many people as of old; but this is such a dry year that all the streams are going dry, and the ditch companies meet with dry gulches instead of creeks that ran all last fall.

The first of the emigration came past here last week, consisting of five wagons and some fifteen men, with women and children, from Iowa. Those reported that they met with no disturbance from Indians, that water and grass were very short this side of the Rocky mountains, and the looks of their poor cattle evidenced the latter fact.

The great bulk of the emigration is reported as striking for Big Hole and Beaver Head, and not as coming this way. The supplies for those places come from Salt Lake, and the Mormons appreciate that as the destined market for their surplus products.

The Indians on the Malheur have gone and done it again. A party of some forty-five had made a good outfit, here and at Mormon basin, and started out three weeks ago to make a thorough prospect of that terra incognitio, the head waters of the Malheur. They have just returned on foot, and report that some 150 miles south or south-west of here, they had finally come to the main Malheur river, after having crossed many of the branches that offered them no inducements to prospect, they believed themselves to be near the place they were bound for—the head waters of the Malheur basin. Driving their pack animals down into a little valley on the river, they camped and turned their animals loose, with five men to guard them, and they must have failed to take the necessary precautions, considering the circumstances; for here they not only saw signs for miles around of a stampede, but they saw an Indian as they drove to camp, and also found a note from a party that they knew, preceded them only one day, saying they had just had a "muss" with the Indians, and they were going on to a certain point. Suddenly an Indian mounted on a very fast horse came riding down toward the grazing animals, and when quite near them he turned and made back again just as two other mounted Indians came from the other direction fluttering their robes, stampeding the band who rushed after the first Indian, now in retreat. The whole thing was done in an instant, and the horses led in a circuit right around the camp before the astonished men realized they were afoot. Of course there was a rush to the rescue, some forgot to take their rifles with them and some forgot where their rifles were, and in the pursuit they were headed off by a howling band of savages at every point, who kept up a perfect blaze of rifle shots at them from behind every rock. It is a miracle that none of the men were hit, but they all escaped unhurt, and even rescued nine of their animals, and report that they shot three Indians. A friend of mine shot one down dead in his tracks, and has that fact to solace him for the missing horse-flesh.

After this romantic episode, the party returned on foot, packing their grub on the remaining nine animals—first making a large bonfire, on which they piled all their surplus property to prevent its falling into the enemy's hands, thus destroying property worth some $800.

Now I imagine these to be the same Indians who murdered the prospectors at John Days a year ago last winter, the same who have made occasional visits to the Warm Springs reserve, and who have twice, I think, driven back prospecting parties from the Willamette in years past and sent them home afoot; besides which, no doubt, the depredations of this spring on the Boise road are chargeable more or less to them. And it would be a fine occupation—let me suggest to the military commanders—for several companies of mounted men to scour the whole region and teach them to respect the lives and property of miners. I cannot conceive of any better use for the military than to assist in opening this region to useful purposes.

This party reported that they had just found the old Emigrant road or "Meek's last route," I suppose, on which gold was picked up and hammered out on the wagon tire some 17 years ago, and the party in advance is led I believe by a son of the man who picked up the gold then. It was found (so they say) in the crevice of a rocky creek bed—a not impossible thing.

It would have been truly delightful to have had this old story, so familiar to the ears of Oregonians, verified by subsequent research, or else to have had it quietly laid away among the myths. Perhaps it may be the good fortunes of the other party I have mentioned, to have realized it all before this.

The Riots Premeditated.—The New York Herald of July 9th contains the following, which shows that the riots which began four days later were the result of a regularly organized conspiracy:

> Gov. Seymour received notice at Albany that a deep laid conspiracy to resist the draft was on foot in this city, and that the attention of the State authorities should be turned to the fact. The particulars of the conspiracy were not given in full; but upon the Governor's arrival in town on Wednesday, July 1, all the details of the plan were communicated to him. These were, in substance, that a large body of deserters, to the number of 1,800, had banded together with the sole purpose of resisting the draft; that they had made their arrangements for the purpose of attacking the Thirty-fifth street Arsenal, arming themselves with the guns there stored, and bid open defiance to the authorities. It was stated that the originators of the plan and the leaders of the men confidently expected to be joined by a large body of Copperheads in whose hands they were to place arms for a similar purpose; that secret meetings had been held for some time past, at which all the arrangements had been perfected for the successful carrying out of the scheme. The whole story looked very plausible, and was calculated to create great uneasiness and alarm in the public mind. Governor Seymour immediately had an interview with Mayor Opdyke, and after a somewhat lengthy consultation, it was decided to call in General Sandford and lay all the particulars before him.

The information contained in this report subsequently turned out to be correct. The outbreak occurred a few days afterwards, and during its progress an attack was made on the Thirty-fifth street Arsenal. There is ground, therefore, for placing reliance in the statement that the riot was gotten up by a body of deserters, who reckoned upon assistance from the Copperheads, and was not, as some take delight in asserting, a spontaneous movement on the part of the laboring classes. That rebel emissaries had a hand in the business will, we think, yet be established.

The newspapers are finding out that Washington is a bit of a nuisance. It is the wolf in the fable—"Washington is in danger." The New York Times indulges its view in this: "Our correspondence from General Meade's headquarters, yesterday, announced the fact that communication with Washington by railroad and telegraph had been cut off! Singular to say, the country did not regard the situation of General Meade as at all critical on that account. On the contrary, there was a disposition to consider it one of the happy accidents of his life. If General Meade shall succeed in the great battle he has in hand, the present generation of patriots to their dying day will believe it was because he had his communications with Washington cut off."

A Rapid March.—A correspondent in the army of the Potomac writes that the 11th Army Corps, which is a German one, on the 26th and 27th of June, marched 54 miles. It was over the same ground which the army moved last fall, on the march from Berlin to Fredericksburg. Then we were seven days on the route. The corps reached the battle-field of Gettysburg, and immediately plunged into the thickest of the fight. It wholly wiped out the stigma of Chancellorsville, and wrote its name for heroism as high as any in the army. Who will now say that the Germans are not good fighters and brave men?

The Boise Road Company.—The following gentlemen were elected directors at the meeting held at the Dalles on Wednesday, for the purpose of organizing the company: Wm. C. Laughlin, J. R. Robbins, D. M. French, O. S. Savage, Chas. Miller, N. H. Gates and W. Nix. The capital stock is $20,000, and the work will be commenced immediately.

Gov. Bromlette of Kentucky.—"There remains," said Judge Bromlette, the recently elected Governor of Kentucky, in a speech delivered by him not long ago, "there remains but one course for all, true, loyal and patriotic men to pursue, and that is simply to do all in their power to strengthen the Government in its efforts to crush the rebellion. After this is done you can set about rectifying the mistakes of the Administration."

In Every Age of the World, the professions have been slow to admit the value of new discoveries, or the expediency of adopting them in practice. It is not to the legal profession that we look for reforms in jurisprudence, neither do we find the advocates of medical reform among physicians. Each innovation whatever is found to innovate upon received opinions and established usage. Hence the opposition which medical men therefore exhibit to the use of private remedies, whatever their acknowledged value, or great efficiency in the cure of disease. No medicine has ever done more for the relief of human suffering than DR. OSGOOD'S INDIA CHOLAGOGUE. The certainty with which it cures Fever and Ague, and eradicates bile from the system is acknowledged by all. Do you prefer a speedy and effectual cure to a regular and scientific run of disease? Try the Cholagogue, and the object is accomplished. Then tell your suffering neighbor what it has done for you, that it may do the same for him.

Indianapolis, October 12, 1862.

Messrs. A. L. Scovill & Co.—Gents: I am hardly able to express my gratitude for the benefit which my daughter has derived from the use of DR MOTT'S LIVER PILLS. She had been troubled with what the physician called LIVER COMPLAINT; but our doctor failed to give her any permanent relief, although she tried his prescription effectually. She had become melancholy, unhappy, and her constitution was much broken down by the use of Mercury. She tried DR. MOTT'S LIVER PILLS and soon began to get better. I am happy to say that she has now recovered her health. Respectfully yours, JAMES COBB.

WHAT REBELS AND DEMOCRATS MEAN BY LIBERTY.—DeBow, in a late number of the Southern Review has the following on the order of things to grow out of the rebellion if it succeeded

The real civilization of a country is in its aristocracy. The masses are molded into soldiers and artisans by intellect just as matter and the elements are made into telegraphs and steam engines. The poor, who labor all day, are too tired at night to study books. If you make them learned, they soon forget all that is not necessary in the common transactions of life. To make an aristocracy in the future we must sacrifice a thousand paupers. Yet by all means we must make them; make them permanent, too, by laws of entail and primogeniture. The right to govern resides in a very small minority; the duty to obey is inherited in the great masses of mankind. All government begins with usurpation, and is continued by force. There is nothing to which the South entertains so great a dislike as universal suffrage. Whenever foreigners settle together in large numbers, there universal suffrage will exist.

Let the professors of Democracy, and foreigners supporting the rebel cause, study the picture.

WOMEN'S WAISTS.—Men do admire a reasonably small foot in women, but an hour glass waist—never! A few quite young dandies fancy slender girls—slender, I mean, in waist, shoulders and general figure—but of a thousand men of my acquaintance I never heard one praise a slim waist, and I have heard hundreds speak of lacing as a monstrous æsthetic blunder. Indeed, so much are men struck with this absurd custom, that they often mention it to refute the statement that "women dress to please men," or else to prove that women can never understand a man's taste in woman. The latter dogma is probably the true one. Nineteen men in twenty, for example, prefer an over plump woman to a lean one, but ninety nine women in a hundred think the contrary is the fact, and perhaps, for that reason, abhor adipose, as if it were leprosy!—Boston Post.

A MISTAKE—PERHAPS.—A young lady who has the misfortune to know very little of music, and yet who is vain of her singing, was recently entertaining a party of friends with a somewhat difficult song, in a shrill voice, when an old bachelor, lodging in the same house, rushed out of his room to the head of the stairs, and shouted:

"What are you hurting that pig for? Turn him into the yard."

"What pig?" asked the lady, so astonished that she stopped singing.

The old bachelor descended the stairs, and after looking around the room exclaimed: "I thought I heard a pig squealing in this room?"

The young lady thought him a wretch, and said so.

EVEN HANDED JUSTICE.—Among the incidents of the late fight at Milliken's Bend was the capture of a rebel soldier by a negro who was his slave three months ago. The Texan surrendered unconditionally, but after identifying his captor protested against being held as a prisoner by his own slave. "It's good enough for you," said the officer. The chivalrous Southerner was very indignant, and his wrath effervesced in a series of oaths, which fell upon the ears of the "intelligent contraband" without effect. The dusky warrior kept a close eye upon his prisoner, but refused to hold any conversation with him, or answer any of his questions as to when he enlisted, or how he dared to level a gun at his master.

At the commencement of the war the Grand Lodge of Masons in Virginia issued an edict prohibiting all intercourse between the Freemasons under their jurisdiction and their brethren at the North. At their recent session, held in Richmond, this resolution of non-intercourse was revoked, and several Yankee prisoners belonging to the Masonic fraternity were admitted in Virginia Lodges, thus placing Northern Masons once more on a sound footing with their Southern brethren, and illustrating the principles of Friendship and Brotherly Love the watchwords of Masons all over the world.

The Bishop of Rochester has, for a singular cause, forbidden a retired clergyman, named Davies, from officiating in his diocese. The strange reason is given that Mr Davies "holds and manages a farm, and of necessity associates with farmers and markets more than is usual or proper in the case of clergymen." An irreverent contemporary suggests that this is pretty talk for the pretended successor of disciples who were only poor fishermen.

"Young man, what's the price of this silk?" asked a deaf old lady of a young fellow in Tremont Row.

"Seven shillings," was the reply.

"Seventeen shillings," she exclaimed, "I'll give you thirteen."

"Seven shillings, ma'am, is the price of the silk," replied the honest shopman.

"Oh, seven shillings," rejoined the lady, sharply, "I'll give you five."

The Spaniards have a proverb: "The stone fit for a wall will not lie on the road." Prepare yourself for something better and something better will come. The great art of success is to be able to seize the opportunity offered. Cheerful, patient perseverance in your lawful calling will best help you to do this. "He that hath to him shall be given, and he shall have abundance."

At a plowing match, some laborers were standing behind a party of ladies whose bonnets and crinoline hindered them from seeing what was going forward. One of them complained that he could not see the steam plow. "Of course not," retorted one of his companions, and added significantly, "Who can see through a woman!"

The Boston Gazette says that somebody was kicked out of an editorial room, the other day, for impudently stating "that he had seen in Germany a fiddle so large that it required two horses to draw the bow across the strings, which would continue to sound six weeks."

A rebel prisoner, taken at the Gettysburg battle, said that after Gen Longstreet was wounded, and while being attended by his surgeon, the order was given by Lee to retreat. On hearing of this, Longstreet exclaimed, "Then our cause is lost; I would now sooner die than live."

A handsome dwelling on Mount Vernon street, in Philadelphia, has been purchased out of a fund raised by prominent members of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and is to be presented to Bishop Simpson, in consideration of his making Philadelphia his permanent residence. It is understood that the bishop has signified his willingness to accept it.

INDUCED by the extensive sale and universal popularity of Hoofland's German Bitters, (purely vegetable) hosts of ignorant Quacks and unscrupulous adventurers have opened upon suffering humanity the flood gates of nostrums in the shape of poor whisky, vilely compounded with injurious drugs, and christened Tonics, Stomachics and Bitters.

Beware of the innumerable array of Alcoholic preparations in plethoric bottles, and big bellied kegs, under the modest appellation of Bitters; which instead of curing, only aggravate disease, and leave the disappointed sufferer in despair.

Hoofland's German Bitters

Are not a new and untried article, but have stood the test of fifteen years trial by the American public; and their reputation and sale are not rivalled by any similar preparation.

The proprietors have thousands of Letters from the most eminent

CLERGYMEN,
LAWYERS,
PHYSICIANS, AND CITIZENS,

Testifying of their own personal knowledge, to the beneficial effects and medical virtues of these Bitters.

Do you want something to strengthen you?
Do you want a good appetite?
Do you want to build up your constitution?
Do you want to feel well?
Do you want to get rid of nervousness?
Do you want energy?
Do you want to sleep well?
Do you want a brisk and vigorous feeling?

If so, use HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS.

From Rev. J. Newton Brown, D. D., Editor of the Encyclopedia of Religious Knowledge.

Although not disposed to favor or recommend Patent Medicines in general, through distrust of their ingredients and effects, I yet know of no sufficient reasons why a man may not testify to the benefits he believes himself to have received from any simple preparation, in the hope that he may thus contribute to the benefit of others.

I do this the more readily in regard to Hoofland's German Bitters, prepared by Dr. C. M. Jackson, of this city, because I was prejudiced against them for many years, under the impression that they were chiefly an alcoholic mixture. I am indebted to my friend Robert Shoemaker, Esq., for the removal of this prejudice by proper tests, and for encouragement to try them, when suffering from great and long continued debility. The use of three bottles of these Bitters, at the beginning of the present year, was followed by evident relief, and restoration to a degree of bodily and mental vigor which I had not felt for six months before, and had almost despaired of regaining. I therefore thank God and my friend for directing me to the use of them.

PHILADELPHIA, June [illegible]

PARTICULAR NOTICE.

There are many preparations sold under the name of Bitters, put up in quart bottles, compounded of the cheapest whisky or common rum, costing from 20 to 40 cents per gallon, the taste disguised by Anise or Coriander Seed.

This class of Bitters has caused and will continue to cause, as long as they can be sold, hundreds to die the death of the drunkard. By their use the system is kept continually under the influence of Alcoholic Stimulants of the worst kind, the desire for Liquor is created and kept up, and the result of it is all the horrors attendant upon a drunkard's life and death.

For those who desire and will have a Liquor Bitters, we publish the following receipt. Get One Bottle Hoofland's German Bitters and mix with Three Quarts of Good Brandy or Whiskey, and the result will be a preparation that will far excel in medicinal virtues and true excellence any of the numerous Liquor Bitters in the market, and will cost much less. You will have all the virtues of Hoofland's Bitters in connection with a good article of Liquor, at a much less price than these inferior preparations will cost you.

ATTENTION, SOLDIERS!

AND THE FRIENDS OF SOLDIERS.

We call the attention of all having relations or friends in the army to the fact that "HOOFLAND'S German Bitters" will cure nine-tenths of the diseases induced by exposures and privations incident to camp life. In the lists, published almost daily in the newspapers, on the arrival of the sick, it will be noticed that a very large proportion are suffering from debility. Every case of that kind can be readily cured by Hoofland's German Bitters. Diseases resulting from disorders of the digestive organs are speedily removed. We have no hesitation in stating that, if these Bitters were freely used among our soldiers, hundreds of lives might be saved that otherwise will be lost.

We call particular attention to the following remarkable and well authenticated cure of one of the nation's heroes, whose life, to use his own language, "has been saved by the Bitters."

PHILADELPHIA, August 23, 1862.

Messrs. Jones & Evans.—Well, gentlemen, your Hoofland's German Bitters has saved my life. There is no mistake in this. It is vouched for by numbers of my comrades, some of whose names are appended, and who were fully cognizant of all the circumstances of my case. I am, and have been for the last four years, a member of Sherman's celebrated battery, and under the immediate command of Captain R. B. Ayres. Through the exposure attendant upon my arduous duties, I was attacked in November last with inflammation of the lungs, and was for seventy two days in the hospital. This was followed by great debility, heightened by an attack of dysentery. I was then removed from the White House, and sent to this city on board the steamer "State of Maine," from which I landed on the 28th of June. Since that time I have been about as low as one could be and still retain a spark of vitality. For a week or more I was scarcely able to swallow anything, and if I did force a morsel down, it was immediately thrown up again.

I could not even keep a glass of water on my stomach. Life could not last under these circumstances; and, accordingly the physicians who had been working faithfully, though unsuccessfully, to rescue me from the grasp of the dread Archer, frankly told me they could do no more for me, and advised me to see a clergyman, and to make such disposition of my limited funds as best suited me. An acquaintance who visited me at the hospital, Mr. Frederick Steinbron, of Sixth below Arch Street, advised me, as a forlorn hope, to try your Bitters, and kindly procured a bottle. From the time I commenced taking them the gloomy shadow of death receded, and I am now, thank God for it, getting better. Though I have taken but two bottles, I have gained ten pounds, and I feel sanguine of being permitted to rejoin my wife and daughter, from whom I have heard nothing for eighteen months; for, gentlemen, I am a loyal Virginian, from the vicinity of Front Royal. To your invaluable Bitters I owe the certainty of life which has taken the place of vague fears—to your Bitters will I owe the glorious privilege of again clasping to my bosom those who are dearest to me in life.

Very truly yours,
ISAAC MALONE.

We fully concur in the truth of the above statement, as we had despaired of seeing our comrade, Mr. Malone, restored to life.
